ABOUT ME

As a IT graduate and passionate full stack developer, I find joy in creating captivating websites and web applications. My experience as a freelancer on Fiverr honed my skills in assisting clients with technical issues and efficiently troubleshooting programming errors. I also bring valuable skills in leadership, teamwork, and communication from my time as the Vice President of the Freelancing Society. Beyond coding, I love to watch anime, finding inspiration from its creativity to enhance my web development projects.

Let's embark on an exciting journey together as we explore the endless possibilities of the online realm!

2018

In my education year, I was not only dedicated to excelling in my studies but also actively engaged in fostering a supportive and collaborative environment within my classroom. As the Class CR (Class Representative), I took on the responsibility of representing my peers, addressing their concerns, and assisting the teacher in maintaining a harmonious learning atmosphere. Moreover, I had the honor of serving as the Vice President of the Freelancing Society. In this role, I organized workshops, events, and mentorship programs that provided valuable insights and guidance to aspiring freelancers. Through my involvement in both academic leadership and freelancing advocacy, I gained invaluable skills in communication, leadership, and teamwork, which have continued to shape my professional journey positively.
